Dental Health Month for Small Pets: February

Drs. Foster & Smith Educational Staff

February 2008 marks the 14th anniversary of the Pets Need Dental Care, TooTMNational Campaign.

During this month, veterinarians and pet owners will team up in support of better oral care. During the month of February, as part of National Pet Dental Health Month, the 14th annual "Pets Need Dental Care, Too TM" program will challenge veterinarians and their clients to schedule regular dental appointments for their pets and establish a home dental care routine.

All pets need good oral health care, especially your small pets. A healthy mouth can make the difference between a pet that eats a balanced diet with enthusiasm, and one that suffers from malnutrition because of mechanical and painful problems that make eating difficult. Be aware of your pet's oral health and what you can do to keep it at its best.

LEARN MORE about dental health:

- How To Care For Your Small Pet's Teeth
- Dental Care in Rabbits: Largely Tied to Diet
- Quiz on Small Pet Dental Health

Unauthorized use of any images, thumbnails, illustrations, descriptions, article content, or registered trademarks of Foster & Smith, Inc. is strictly prohibited under copyright law. Site content, including photography, descriptions, pricing, promotions, and availability are subject to change without notice. These restrictions are necessary in order to protect not only our copyrighted intellectual property, but also the health of pets, since articles or images that are altered or edited after download could result in misinformation that may harm companion animals, aquatic life, or native species.