

Natural Cat Treats: What's Not There Counts

Drs. Foster & Smith Educational Staff

Natural cat treats
Snacks
Nature
Intended

For the health and vitality of your cat, try some of our "natural" selections.

You take a lot of care in selecting food for your cat, making sure to look for quality ingredients that will support her good health while tempting her taste buds. Make sure you use the same criteria when you select treats. Look for natural cat treats, with real meat, poultry, or seafood and no chemical preservatives.

Greens

Many cat owners have witnessed their cat chew grass outdoors. Grasses contain vitamins (such as folic acid) and dietary fiber. Indoor cats need something other than our houseplants (which can be toxic) to satisfy their grass cravings. Grow her some healthy grass, such as Pet Greens® 100% certified organic wheat grass. Or, at playtime, give kitty the energetic burst that only the aroma of pure catnip can provide; try our Feline Fantasia® Catnip.

Protein-rich Feasts

Our 100% real meat and seafood treats provide the high quality proteins and amino acids our little carnivores need, and they do so without additives or artificial preservatives. Meat lovers appreciate PureBites® Single-Ingredient Freeze-Dried Cat Treats, made with single ingredient seafood, fish, or poultry. Lamb Tweets contain no grain or gluten and are made with 100% lamb lung. Seafood-lovers opt for our Tuna Flakes, made with delicious, freeze-dried 100% fish.

WE RECOMMEND

Tuna Flakes

Feline Fantasia® Catnip

Lamb Tweets