

Drs. Foster & Smith Delicious Dog Treats

Drs. Foster & Smith Educational Staff

Check out our list of tempting dog treats - from meat, veggies to crackers - there's something for every dog.

poultry – the low-fat choice

Poultry is a very good source of protein and amino acids. Dog owners who are looking for a way to reduce the fat in their dog's diet can turn to treats made with 100% chicken breast fillets as a means of offering highly palatable low-fat sources of meat. Our Chicken & Duck Fillets Dog Treats are delectable 100% meat treats for extra energy and skin and coat health.

veggie – replete with antioxidants

Sweet potatoes are one of the world's most vitamin-rich food sources. They are loaded with Vitamins A and C, both power-packed antioxidants that can help reduce free-radical damage and promote the health of joints and internal systems. Our Healthy Snax® Sweet Potato Dog Treats are not only sweet and chewy, they are also virtually irresistible to dogs.

carbohydrates – for energy

The main benefit of carbohydrates comes from the quick energy they release. Carbohydrates support healthy brain function and keep muscles working smoothly. Our Premium Natural Biscuit Dog Treats offer a tasty treat in a variety of flavors your dog will love. These mouthwatering treats offer a quick energy snack for working dogs or dogs on the go.

Choose treats based on these four criteria:

- 1 YOUR INTENDED USE - If you plan to use treats during training, smaller treats are a good choice. They're quickly consumed and provide minimal distraction from training tasks.

- 2 YOUR "TREAT FREQUENCY" - If you tend to feed treats to your dog often, consider smaller, lower-calorie treats, which will help him stay slim.
- 3 YOUR DOG'S AGE AND RELEVANT MEDICAL CONDITIONS - Puppies often prefer smaller treats, and seniors with sensitive teeth often prefer soft treats. Dogs with food sensitivities/allergies can benefit from hypoallergenic treats.
- 4 YOUR DOG'S PREFERENCES - It's always good to stock up on favorite flavors... after all, that's why they're a treat!
