Which brush or comb is right for your cat?

Your cat understands the importance of good coat health. After all, she spends as much as 2-1/2 hours per day grooming herself. And considering she sleeps up to 18 hours per day, that means a significant portion of her day is spent self-grooming. But you can help your cat maintain her coat health with frequent brushings.

In fact, grooming your feline friend can help reduce hair matting, eliminate hairballs, and maintain her coat beauty. But making sense of all the brushes, combs, slickers, shedding combs, and rubber curry brushes available on the market can be confusing. Use this informative comparison chart to help you decide which type of brush or comb best suits your cat's grooming needs.
