

How to Clean Pet Stains from Carpet

Drs. Foster & Smith Educational Staff

Now is the perfect time to clean, freshen, and rejuvenate your carpets - especially if you have pets.

Soap and water, regular household cleaners, and perfumed sprays are simply not effective on carpets where accidents happen. While they may remove surface stains, they leave odors which entice your pet to return to the area. Instead, use a stain and odor remover containing natural enzymes that break down stains and odors at their source.

Prior to shampooing, tackle set-in stains with our OdorLogic® CleanAway which eliminates organic stains and odors with powerful enzyme action.

An overall shampooing with a commercial carpet cleaning machine (whether you rent or own one) offers the most thorough cleaning. You can make your shampooing even more effective when you use OdorLogic® CleanAway in the machine. OdorLogic® CleanAway is formulated with natural enzymes that remove organic odors quickly and permanently.

If your pet "re-wets" your clean carpet, don't get upset - just use an appropriate stain and odor remover. Nature's Miracle Advanced Stain & Odor Remover is perfect for fresh stains. After you've blotted up most of the stain, simply saturate the remnants, let soak, and blot with a towel. The natural antimicrobial enzymes break down the odor-causing bacteria, permanently removing them from the deepest fibers in your carpet. Mild cleansers in these products help remove discoloration and leave a pleasant scent.

With any carpet cleaner, always be sure to test a small hidden area for colorfastness.

You and your pet can enjoy cleaner, fresher carpets and a more inviting home when you employ the right carpet cleaners.
