

Travel Needs for your Birds Comfort

Drs. Foster & Smith Educational Staff

arm-weather travel is on your horizon! You've selected a destination, verified the legality of transporting your bird there, made bird-friendly reservations, compiled a list of your destination's avian veterinarians, and scheduled a pre-departure veterinarian appointment.

Before your trip, be sure to pack these items to maximize your bird's comfort:

- A travel cage with space for food, water, a perch, and a toy. The Fold 'n Go Travel Cage is ideal. Verify that the cage fits your car or airline size restrictions.
- A supply of your bird's regular food and treats.
- Bottles of the water she normally drinks.
- Food and water dishes – attachable Smart Crocks are extremely travel-friendly.
- A cage cover, especially if your destination is colder than her usual surroundings.
- A veterinarian-recommended supplement if she suffers motion sickness.
- Necessary medications and a copy of her medical history and your current veterinarian's phone number.
- A First-Aid Kit.
- A play gym, or a cage intended for temporary housing, such as the paradise Perch and Go.
- A soft travel-cage toy, such as a natural or Parrot Piñata.

A little prior planning goes a long

■ Hygiene supplies such as Poop-Off and Cage Wipes, Cage Liners, and a Seed Catcher.

■ A Flight Suit with Lanyard.

■ A water misting bottle, especially if you're headed for a warmer climate.

■ Bird Bath Spray.
