

Hideaways for Small Pets, the Importance of

Drs. Foster & Smith Educational Staff

Whether your small pet prefers burrowing deep into bedding, holing up inside a hutch, or taking cover in a large toy, he hides for security and solace. In nature, your small pet would be prey for larger animals. Therefore, your pet may instinctively hide whenever startled or threatened. He also seeks refuge when he feels the need to sleep, rest, or simply "get away from it all."

Offering your small pet the hiding places he needs is easy and economical, thanks to a wide variety of shelters, toys, and sleepers such as:

- Durable Lixit Igloo
- Natural-grass Bungalows, Lounger, or Tunnel cage accessories
- Soft and cozy Super Sleeper Cozy Hammock and Super Sleepers (these are best for small pets that do not chew on cloth)
- Entertaining and relaxing Play Tunnels

WE RECOMMEND

Cozy Cube provides comfort & security.

Chewbular Play Tube creates a chewable burrow of fun.

Marshall Hanging Small Pet Nap Sacks hide-away center satisfies burrowing instincts.